From the desk of Fr. Dan

Greetings, everyone. Hope you had a good week. It seems like we had a bit of a heat wave with temperatures getting into the thirties. Woohoo! It even appears that this coming week will be in the forties. Break out the T-shirts, shorts and flip flops, and fire up the grill. I see trips down to the ocean and people sunning themselves on the beach.

The 7th is World Marriage Day! It's a day to celebrate the beauty and joy of marriage. I know, marriage can be a challenge at times, but isn't life like that as well. Marriage has its ups and down, joys and sorrows, but in the end, it's about the love between two people, a man and a woman, who share their lives together through thick and thin. Ain't it a coinkydink that Valentine's Day is within the same week, huh? So, husbands, what are you doing to show your wife how much you love them, beyond what you do every day? Is it a nice candlelit dinner at a restaurant? Is it flowers, chocolates, diamonds? (They say diamonds are a girl's best friend.) Maybe it's a weekend away to a nice, secluded spot - just the two of you - to get away from the world and just enjoy yourselves alone and have a nice bottle of wine together. Wives... what are you doing for your lover boy, your big hunk of a man? A new tool for the workshop? Now might be the right time, if you can find them, a cordless snow shovel. Whatever it might be, really be there for each other. In all honesty, it's not a once a year kinda thing. It's an everyday kinda thing. Always being there for each other, and maybe the greatest gift you can give each other is each other. Spending time together, alone. Maybe it's a look or a gentle touch, whatever it might be, to express your love for each other every day.

Okay, here we go:

Southern people during a cold snap:

-It's so cold, my plumber pulled his pants up.

-It's so cold, the chickens are lining up to get in the oven

Only 99 people can sing "Africa" by Toto at the same time - it's something that 100 men or more could never do.

If you ever get locked out of your house, talk to your lock calmly. Because communication is the key.

I once knew a guy that could only sleep on a pile of old magazines. He had a lot of back issues.

Here's for all you love birds out there to celebrate World Marriage Day:

"Love and marriage, love and marriage. Go together like a horse and carriage. This I tell ya brother, ya can't have one without the other..."

Have a great week

QCD is always with you. Take the time to pause, listen, and feel His presence.
